GREAT RESOURCES - SHOP UPDATES

After more than a year break in publishing this newsletter, we are back by popular demand. I've had several people tell me they miss my newsletter, they liked reading it and wish that I would start publishing it again. After fourteen consecutive years, I needed a break. Even a small four or six page newsletter takes a lot of time and effort, much more than one might realize to put a newsletter like this together. I do everything myself except for the printing and mailing. I do enjoy publishing the newsletter, so it's back! However, due to my many business and personal commitments I plan to only publish two issues annually instead of three or four as before. I appreciate your interest in this publication and hope all of you continue to enjoy reading it and feel a little better informed from its presence.

Now on to more important things. As I resume publishing the newsletter, in this issue I'm featuring updates on a few businesses I have written about in the past. We are truly blessed to have so many great resources for collector car enthusiasts right here along the front range of Colorado.

The first business featured here is Pinkee's Rod Shop. A big shout out and well deserved kudo's to shop owner Eric Peratt and the crew at Pinkee's for building the car (pictured above and below left) that won the prestigious "America's Most Beautiful Roadster" at the 70th Annual Grand National Roadster Show in Pomona, California earlier this year. See Street Rodder, Streetscene and other recent publications for details on this extraordinary build. Great car from a great builder! Contact Eric at Pinkee's Rod Shop at 970-203-1932 or visit the shop at 4395 Highland Meadows Parkway in Windsor, Colorado.

The next shop update featured here is Ron Jones Garage. Formerly located in Loveland, Colorado, they have moved nearby to their new location at 1070 Diamond Valley Drive, in Windsor, Colorado. They have been in their brand new building for just a few short weeks now. The built to order, state of the art facility has everything a high-end professional auto restoration shop should. It includes a total of 19,800 square feet with a separate body shop area, brand new state of the art paint booth, a work area, a well organized storage area on the second floor where they store parts for each car currently in the shop, a final assembly area, a showroom, a lunch room and of course the office area. Pictured above and center are photos of the work area, parts storage and the showroom.

Ron Jones Garage has been in business since 2007. They now have ten employees and are doing some very interesting work on cars from our area as well as some from out of state. Contact Ron Jones at 970-214-2679 or visit the new shop to talk about your project or just to say hello and look around.

Last but not least we are featuring Tin Element, LLC. This shop is owned and operated by Neal Kurschner along with one employee, Shawn. Neal started Tin Element, LLC in 2009 having many years of experience and training including WyoTech in Laramie, Wyoming and a few years working at Pinkee's. Tin Element specializes in metal body work and fabrication on all domestic and European cars and trucks, from high-end exotic aluminum bodied cars to street rods and muscle cars to original restorations and resto-mods. I did an article back in 2016 on Tin Element when they were still located in Loveland, Colorado where their shop had about 2,100 square feet. They needed more space so performing metal work, including aluminum, that requires no filler or bondo. When they are done with the metal work, the correct primer and sanding is typically all that is required. While they specialize primarily in metal work, they can also provide custom chassis and suspension fabrication, drivetrain installations and even complete turn-key projects. In most cases, metal work is rarely recognized adequately when describing the restoration or build of any car. Fact is, it is the metal work and fabrication that is the foundation of every great car. Call Neal about your project at 970-412-7323 or visit the shop at 6930 W. 116th Ave., Ste. #50, Broomfield, Colorado.

As always, I recommend that you look at all your options when considering who will work on your car or truck. Make sure Pinkee's Rod Shop, Ron Jones Garage and Tin Element LLC are on your list along with many other fine quality shops that you may consider for your next project. Look for more shop updates in coming issues of this newsletter. HC

CELEBRATING 25 YEARS IN THE AUTO APPRAISAL BUSINESS!

As this issue of the newsletter is finished and sent to the printer, I am completing my 25th year in the motor vehicle/transport appraisal business. Harold Camp, (dba) Appraisal Specialties of Colorado officially opened for business on May 1, 1993. My goal has always been to provide professional motor vehicle appraisal services with accuracy, integrity, honesty and the utmost in privacy and security for our clients.

I have engaged in the appraisal of all types of motor vehicles and transport including all makes and models of antique and classic cars, street rods, resto-mods, muscle cars, as well as all types of late model cars and light duty trucks, motorcycles (antique, custom and late model), recreational vehicles including; Class A, B and C motorhomes, totterhomes, fifth-wheel travel trailers and pull behind travel trailers (both antique and late model) and watercraft including boats, jet-skis, etc. I have been retained by attorneys, banks, credit unions, dealers, insurance companies, the general public, government agencies and others to determine accurate and reliable unbiased valuations. My appraisals have been performed for various purposes or types of value including; Fair Market Value (FMV), Market Value, Actual Cash Value (ACV), Replacement Value, Diminished Value, Wholesale Value, Salvage Value and more involving many different functions including appraisals for; insurance coverage, loan collateral, consumer resale, total loss and diminished value insurance claim settlements, marriage dissolution, business dissolution, estate planning, estate settlement, estate tax, gift tax, IRS tax deductible donation, and much more. Through the course of my appraisal business I have appraised thousands of vehicles, some worth only a few hundred dollars to collections of vehicles worth millions of dollars. I provide all of my clients with professional certified appraisals that are Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (USPAP) compliant.

Thank you to all of my clients, past, present and future, for your trust. I look forward to providing all of your auto appraisal needs for many years to come. HC
